

sales executive

Seasons is more than just an incredibly exciting new way in aged care. It is a new industry benchmark – looking for a dedicated Sales Executive to join our dynamic and supportive team.

You will be switched on, passionate, high-achieving, hungry for success, motivated and a driven professional who can take control and be accountable.

Initially based at Seasons Redbank Plains, later in 2012 you will have the joint role of selling Seasons Ipswich Village. You will have an impressive and highly saleable supply of apartments that completely re-define traditional aged care.

A casual support person will assist you in the day-to-day performance of your role.

Ideally you will have;

- relevant industry sales experience (desired but not essential, applicants with a proven sales background in other areas are strongly encouraged to apply)
- strong interpersonal and time management skills
- an outgoing personality with the ability to create relationships
- ability to work under pressure in a professional team environment
- general administration duties required as well

This is a full time position including rostered weekend work, with a competitive base salary + commission package. This is an outstanding opportunity to become part of an industry leader and share in our growth.

Application instructions

Applicants are requested to apply online. When completing the application process please ensure that your resume and covering letter attachments are either in Microsoft Word or PDF file format. To find out more about working at Seasons visit www.seasonsagedcare.com.au
